

I see the same picture above as you. My experience, however, quite different. You see happiness, I see a miracle. So many stories within the story, to numerous to explain at this time. Someday. But these last few weeks, this simple picture illustrates the miracle of hope, the miracle of God's amazing grace and the miracle of redemption. With today's world being what it is, from the Corona Virus, isolation, violence in our cities, peaceful protests, Epstein Island, sex trafficking and all the sexual brokenness Michele and I see in marriages, families and churches, there is still hope!

A few weeks ago, it will be 5 years of our journey thru my addiction and the betrayal of our marriage in so many ways. 5 years of amazement of the process and the healing. 5 years of growing into such a deeper relationship with the Father, and my beautiful wife. It is so hard to put into words. But my point to this is:

Throughout our life together, now knowing all my past secrets, behaviors and brokenness, as well as the stories of so many others, Michele has asked ME, to share in a new, no, OUR new Covenant of life together in a Providential Ceremony exchanging new promises, a new covenant, of our new life together! Wow! I am so undeserving of her love yet she is willing to accept me, and my story, and walk with me as a new creation in Christ. A new covenant of two becoming one, yes again, but stronger than ever before!

So on August 15, 2020, we shared, celebrated and expressed the love and amazing new life we have together. It was one day short of the 5 year anniversary of our infamous "D" day, when God brought my addiction into the light. He had a greater plan for us that day!

Secrets are gone, the truth has come into the light and we will continue to grow in our new life together! God, on that day now 5+ years ago, intervened in our marriage in such a divine way. Yes a divine intervention. I wouldn't be here today without it. He brought hope to us, not to silence. He gave us a voice. And we will use it. What a transformation, what a miracle this journey has become.

So when you look at that picture, see the happiness and the joy of a woman sharing an amazing time with her granddaughter! The smiles say it all. From tears of despair 5 years ago to a smile that reaches as far as the "East is from the West". The joy of "Lolli" sharing valuable time with her family. The healing that has transpired. The happiness she shows and the joy that has come full circle. And her undeserving love filling me with that same happiness! What a miracle it was to celebrate our Providential Ceremony of God's divine intervention in our lives 5 years ago! Look at that picture and look at a picture of hope & restoration! No matter your situation there is hope! We are living breathing proof of that.

There is NO HOPE in SILENCE!

You truly can survive and thrive from sexual brokenness of any kind. Be it infidelity, pornography, masturbation, same sex attraction, prostitutes, sexual trauma or abuse. You name it, and we have most likely seen it AND we have seen the recovery and freedom from all these and more.

Michele and I were introduced to Faith Bible Church in August 2015 thru an extreme marital crisis situation. It was ugly but that day started a day that changed our lives and hopefully the lives of so many others. We both had an impeccable desire for healing, individually, spiritually and our couple ship! We aggressively pursued every option available to restore my integrity and our marriage.

Faith Bible Church (FBC) allowed us to do that. They allowed us to first be vocal of our situation and openly express the need for healing, then allowing us to provide the resources for others struggling to find that help we so desperately wanted. There were not many options back then. But, now, there is hope! There is no more silence when it pertains to sexual addiction and brokenness. No matter the extent! Dabbling or full blown addictions, there is hope. Michele & I have that passion of hope and want to share it with others. We want to share what has helped us and provide the resources that we could not readily find before!

With the help and overwhelming support of FBC, we have been able to provide numerous recovery groups. Partner Betrayal Trauma, Partner's of Sex Addicts, Conquer Series for men and support group for women, Married & Alone, Intimacy, Anorexia, Betrayal & Beyond, 7 Pillars of Freedom, Recovery Zone, Unraveled and many more.

They range from the single's growing up in this sex crazed society, to church leaders struggling, to the betrayed spouses and to those so consumed with the behavior that is destroying themselves and their loved ones. We have folks from 15+ states,

Canada & Australia attending a multitude of our groups.

Men and Women's individual and couples coaching is also available to those desiring a more intimate and intensive approach to recovery & healing.

We are hearing comments like:

"We have made more progress in the last 5 months with these groups than with any Certified Sex Addiction Therapist (CSAT) or other counselor."

Bottom line is that Michele has experienced the trauma of infidelity and addiction. I have experienced the full depth of sexual addiction. Together we have experienced the devastation of it, yet also the freedom coming through the other side. The healing that can be achieved in community with others who share similar experiences. The value of groups and digging into the root causes. Or the spouse's recovery process of dealing with a betrayal of any sort, and that can be defined in so many ways!

But thru God's grace and the healing thru community and groups, there is HOPE.

There is no limit that the freedom from this brokenness, whether the struggler or the betrayed spouse, the resources for healing are available AND you are NOT ALONE!
