T-Mobile Fiber Home Internet construction notice

Big news! Together with our partner Metronet, we're building a 100% fiber-optic network for our fastest and most reliable home internet ever. Soon you'll see fiber crews in your neighborhood, and here's what you can expect before, during, and after construction.

Laying the groundwork for gigabit speeds

- We'll send you a reminder postcard before work begins.
- You'll see large T-Mobile Fiber signs at neighborhood entrances and smaller signs near your property.
- You'll also see flags and temporary paint marking underground utilities.

Construction FAQs

? I have a sprinkler system, dog fence, or sump pump line underground. How do I protect it?

Mark them with white flags or landscape-safe spray paint. Or notify us online at Metronet.com/TMoConstruction via the "Submit a Request" tab.

? Does T-Mobile have permission to be on my property?

Yes. We are authorized to access designated utility easements, typically located along streets, sidewalks, lot lines, or between properties. If they are fenced off, we may need your help to enter.

? When can I remove the marking flags or paint?

Please keep them in place until construction is fully complete.

? Will my property be restored after construction?

Of course! We aim to minimize disruption and restore all softscapes (like grass) within 3–5 business days. Hardscapes (rock or concrete) will be restored within 14–30 days, weather permitting.

Super fast and reliable.
Done right.
