Five-Star Character

THE GEORGE C. MARSHALL
ETHICAL LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE

Student Voices...

"It helped me understand how to become a better leader."

"We all had the opportunity to converse and engage in critical leadership ideas."

"The discussion questions... were complex and made you think."

A Unique Opportunity for High School Juniors & Seniors

The George C. Marshall International Center is hosting two in-person leadership education events for high school juniors and seniors from Northern Virginia, the District of Columbia and Maryland in early 2022.

Five-Star Character: The George C. Marshall Ethical Leadership Conference leverages lessons from the distinguished career of a soldier and statesman who serves as a positive and timeless model of effective ethical leadership.

Apply today and choose your session at georgemarshall.org/elc

- Session 1: January 21 and 22
- Session 2: February 25 and 26

The conference is free of charge, thanks to the support of our sponsors.

Please note that attendance for each session is capped at 20.

Inspiring Leadership In Action

★ The conference opens with a Friday evening dinner, guest speaker program and guided tour for students and families at Dodona Manor, General Marshall's historic home in Leesburg, VA.

★ On Saturday, students will spend the day discovering how Marshall navigated challenges during his career, discussing the leadership principles that guided him and applying his example in a modern context.
