HOW LUTHERANS INTERPRET THE BIBLE

by Mark Allan Powell

As we continue through the Fall, we will be taking a look at a video series that will investigate and help us to better understand our Lutheran approach to making meaning from the Bible. Seminary professor, Dr. Powell presents important concepts that set a framework for a deeper engagement with scripture while staying rooted in our Lutheran interpretive tradition.

During our 7-week series we will be talking through a variety of perspectives, including gaining a better understanding of the history of how the Bible came together and some of the key interpretive moves made in the early church. Additionally, we will consider how we might carry a more robust theological lens into our own reading of the Bible.

This series is all video based, meaning that participants are invited to just bring themselves, along with open hearts and minds to class each week. 5 of the 7 sessions come with accompanying handouts in the curriculum. On Sunday mornings at 8:30am in the Chapel we will view the videos together and share in a time of discussion.

In Grace,
Pastor Steve
