

Ribbons for Recovery

FIRST Steps Together with the Cape Cod Children's Place is honored to present to you a traveling art installation that is a visual representation of the many pathways to recovery and the tremendous efforts made to start and restart a journey.

We believe in deconstructing stigma and constructing recognition and honor for those who have chosen a recovery journey in whatever form.

The process of identifying the catalyst for recovery is not for the faint of heart and should be understood and appreciated by community members from all walks of life.

The disease of addiction does not have to cast one into the shadows to suffer and recover alone. Our wish is for the ribbons to illuminate all the possibilities for pathways to recovery identified by parents and served by our program and light the way for others who may still feel like they're wandering in the dark.

For Recovery Month in September, let us be in awe of those who are choosing to do the hard work of interrupting cycles because they and their children deserve peace, wellness, and support in all forms.
