OPEX 360

Exploring Operating Expenses and Tenant Passthroughs

NOV. 11, 2020 | 11 AM-NOON PM ET

Sponsored by SOLID Surface Care

Even as the 2020 budget season wraps up, there is the old saying: “It is always budget season.” For 2020 and 2021, this saying is especially true as asset and property managers deal with the unique challenges to building operations and operating expenses caused by the COVID-19 pandemic. With these challenges comes considerations that must be made not only for the management and operations teams at a property, but also for the equitable treatment of the tenant customer.

During this presentation, Marc Fischer with InspiRE University will share and explore research and insights about how the COVID-19 pandemic is affecting operating expenses and tenant passthroughs. The program will include a dialogue facilitated by Pat Freeman with Brand Properties that looks at these trends and their effect on management, operations staff, and the tenants at a property.
