

July 2020 Loan Repayment Update

Good afternoon,

We are contacting our loan recipients to make you aware of an important billing change as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic crisis. Please read this message in its entirety as it has important implications for the July 2020 and January 2021 Loan Repayments. The OPWC has made the decision to defer the July 2020 Loan Repayments for six months, making the next effective payment date for all active OPWC loans January 29th, 2021. We made this decision to give our applicants flexibility and allow for ease of processing.

You can download a July 2020 Waiver letter HERE for your audit records. It is signed by Linda Bailiff, OPWC Director, and should serve as record for non-payment. We will also post notice of this waiver to our Auditor page and our Loan page.

Additionally, OPWC will not be accepting any payment(s) on loans until January 2021. If you still would like your July 2020 payment, you are welcome to make two payments as part of the January 2021 billing cycle. The invoices for January 2021 will go out on our regular schedule and will be available by November 15th. Be aware that we will be working to revise our online amortization schedules as soon as possible, but changes to the July 2020 billing cycle will not be immediately reflected on the amortization schedules for several weeks.

During this time, we want to be flexible with all of our communities. If you believe that you may face financial hardship in the upcoming months and may be unable to make your January 2021 Loan Repayment, please contact our Loan Officers via email at OPWC.Loans@pwc.ohio.gov and we can work with you to determine possible actions on your account.

To stay up to date, please watch our website. Our COVID-19 page contains all epidemic related policy issues.

Stay safe and healthy and we wish you all the best.
