NCAGT Bylaw Amendments

From time to time an organization must consider updates to its bylaws in order to stay relevant. The executive committee of NCAGT has proposed a series of amendments. You can find the proposed changes and compare them to the original language here or by using the QR code. Once you have considered the amendments, please vote on them using this Google form. Voting closes on May 30.

Parent Corner

224: The number of gifted parents who completed the NCAGT Parent Survey. Thank you, parents!

3: The priorities of topics parents want to learn more about are the following:

Supporting gifted children's executive and organizational skills

Social, emotional, and psychosocial needs

Enrichment opportunities outside of school

17: The number of most repeated word "resources" when asked to name the biggest roadblock in supporting their gifted children

Are you a parent advocating for gifted children? Come and "barter and trade" resources and best practices to effectively support gifted children across districts and regions. The following Parent eXchange is Thursday, June 8, 2023, from 7 - 8 pm. If you plan to attend the session, please complete the registration form.

Membership Perks

Did you know that NCAGT membership gives you access to 6 months of free access to Renzulli Learning for up to 100 students in your classroom or 1 year of access for at-home use? With Renzulli Learning, students start by completing a detailed online questionnaire that collects the students' interests, learning styles, and expression styles. After their profile is generated, students and teachers use it to guide the exploration of 40,000 online educational resources emphasizing problem-solving, creativity, and critical thinking. Check it out with your free access code:

Meet the Board Member

Mrs. Alexia Rose Lawrence, an Appalachian State University graduate, serves on NCAGT's Board of Directors as the 2023 Presidential Nominee. As a member of the Public Relations Committee, she is charged with managing the production and distribution of NCAGT's Podcast, They'll Be Fine. After graduating with a BS in Elementary Education and a concentration in Social Studies, Mrs. Rose went on to work within the North and South Carolina School Systems. She is currently educating gifted students at Scholars Academy for the Gifted and Artistically Elite, a virtual school based out of Cary, NC. Mrs. Rose believes that every child deserves to feel safe, nurtured, and challenged to become the best version of themselves. In her free time, Mrs. Rose enjoys training her two pups, Oliver and Heidi. She also enjoys reading and practicing yoga.

They'll Be Fine

New episodes of the podcast will drop on May 5th & May 19th.
