

...21-year-old female, ... died as a result of the combined toxic effects of fentanyl, diphenhydramine, and ethanol. Autopsy demonstrated severe pulmonary edema and congestion with foam in the trachea, as well as evidence of blunt force injuries to the head and neck, including galeal-subgaleal hemorrhages with involvement of the temporalis muscle, subdural hemorrhage, and patchy petechiae. Toxicology was positive for ethanol, fentanyl (and metabolites), caffeine, cannabinoids, and diphenhydramine. Given the uncertainty surrounding the etiology of the acute subdural hemorrhage and with the information available to us at this time, the manner of death, in our opinion, is best classified as undetermined.
