

Special Education Teachers Needed for Survey on the Implementation of Self-Determination Instruction

Dr. Lori Y. Peterson and Matthew Wood, from the University of Northern Colorado, are seeking participants for a survey study on the implementation of self-determination instruction with students with disabilities. You are receiving this message as a newsletter listserv member of the National Technical Assistance Center on Transition: the Collaborative (NTACT:C) or it was forwarded to you.

Approximately, 20 years has passed since a national study was conducted to look at whether or not teachers are implementing self-determination instruction with their students. This study seeks a current perspective on the delivery of self-determination instruction. We are asking for your participation or for you to forward this message to other special educators for participation consideration. If you take part in this study, you would complete a 22-question survey that takes less than 10 minutes.

To participate in this survey, you can access it through the link provided below. The survey is completely voluntary. At the end of the survey you will have the opportunity to enter a drawing for one of two $30 Amazon gift cards. If you have any questions about the study, please email Lori Y. Peterson at lori.peterson@unco.edu or Matthew Wood at wood4175@bears.unco.edu.
