8:15—9:05 a.m.	What Lies Beyond the Federal Reserve’s Monetary Policy Tightening Cycle? Brian Jones, Economist - Federal Home Loan Bank NY Surging consumer prices prompted the Federal Open Market Committee to embark on the most aggressive tightening of monetary policy in over four decades. While inflation promises to remain above the 2% target desired by central bankers for some time, policymakers have signaled that they expect to begin lowering the federal funds rate this year. Real economic activity continues to expand at a near-trend pace, with labor markets cooling, suggesting that policymakers may ultimately engineer an ever-elusive soft landing? What lies ahead for the national and local economies over the balance of 2024 and beyond? What are the implications for interest rates and financial markets? What impact might the November elections have? Will housing markets remain challenged? What about commercial real estate? Will activity within the FHLBNY district continue to lag the remainder of the Nation or catch up over the course of 2025? Join FHLBNY financial economist Brian Jones for a discussion of these questions and other timely topics that will help you prepare for the year ahead.
9:05—9:55 a.m.	Solutions for Today’s Deposit and Funding Environment Shannon Prendergast - Intrafi At IntraFi, we talk to banks daily about what their customers want, how the latest economic changes are impacting deposit costs and their bottom line, and tactics for building a resilient balance sheet. 9:55—10:10 a.m.	Refreshment Break
10:10—11:00 a.m.	Artificial Intelligence and the Future of Payments Patrick Dix, Vice President of Client and Association Engagement - Shazam Artificial Intelligence is a topic almost every industry is trying to grapple with. The potential benefits and the uncomfortable challenges AI present make it hard to think strategically about. In this session we’ll give you a framework to think about new technologies and innovations like AI and how you might use them in your bank. We’ll talk about the ways AI is already in the marketplace, enhancing payments, authentication and the customer experience. We’ll also look down the road at the potential risks AI and it’s uses pose for banking in the future.

11:00—11:50 a.m.	Navigating Zero Trust: Building Your Strategy and Roadmap William J. Nowik, CISA, CISSP, QSA, PCIP - Principal - Wolf & Company, P.C. We need a new security model that more effectively adapts to the complexity of the modern environment, embraces the hybrid workplace, and protects people, devices, apps, and data wherever they're located. In other words, we need to modernize our approach to cybersecurity. Zero Trust as “a cybersecurity strategy premised on the idea that no user or asset is to be implicitly trusted. It assumes that a breach has already occurred or will occur, and therefore, a user should not be granted access to sensitive information by a single verification done at the enterprise perimeter. Instead, each user, device, application, and transaction must be continually verified.” This session is designed to equip you with the knowledge and actionable steps needed to kick-start your Zero Trust cybersecurity strategy and implementation. Whether you're starting from scratch or refining your existing security approach, this session will guide you through the essential elements of developing a robust Zero Trust strategy and creating a roadmap for success. Key Takeaways: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Clear understanding of the Zero Trust model and its relevance. • Practical steps for assessing current security posture. • Strategies for building a robust Zero Trust architecture. • Roadmap for initiating your Zero Trust journey.
