We live in a diverse, sprawling community. It is a challenge to communicate in our area. For this reason, the Houston Northwest Chamber of Commerce is organizing “Talks of the Town”.

These quarterly lightening sessions will give our community leaders a chance to provide quick updates to you and to guide you to locate answers to questions of importance to you. Email your questions no later than 48 hours prior to the session addressed to ChamberInfo@HoustonNWChamber.org and put Talks of the Town in the subject line.

The Communities of Northwest Harris County

Northwest Harris County is a collection of preferred communities, one gradually flowing into the next. How does one know where one community starts and the next one begins?

Our region is unincorporated except for the area around Willowbrook Mall which was annexed by the city of Houston. Our unincorporated condition gives us opportunities as well as challenges.

One of the challenges has been in branding the community. What do we call our communities? For the purposes of the Talks of the Town sessions, identify where your home and/or business is located and attend the session that corresponds to that location or that you identify with.
