

Happy Tuesday Morning Friends!

"Don't let even one rotten word seep out of your mouths. Instead, offer only fresh words that build others up when they need it most. That way your good words will communicate grace to those who hear them." -Ephesians 4:29

Words are powerful! Ms. Jeni asked for you to think about a time when words hurt you. She also asked how you wanted to be remembered; as a person of kind, uplifting words, or a person who uses words to tear others down.

Let's use this project to make art out of our encouraging words!

Using the name of someone you love, fill their name with words that describe all the things you love about them. Things you admire, find funny, or things you know they're fired in.

Then the best part, GIVE IT TO THEM! Encourage them with your words and the gift of your creativity!

1. Using a pencil, outline a large bubble version of the name or word you'd like to word illustrate.
2. Using several different marker colors, begin alternating them to write different descriptive words that describe your pencil outlined word.
3. Vary the size and lettering type to make the picture more fun and interesting.
4. Use descriptive words until you've filled all of your pencil outlined bubble letters.

(Below I've added a picture of a project I did for some of our youth a few years ago. Instead of a word, I filled each of their enneagram numbers with characteristics that described them. But this is what you're going for!)

Have fun!
