CAMO IN FOCUS

JANUARY–FEBRUARY 2022

DOCTOR GIVING BACK TO THE COMMUNITY

Dr. Cristina Sequeira was the first doctor to complete her social service requirement with CAMO Honduras.

"I did my social service as a general practitioner, and what motivated me the most was that at CAMO, they saw the patient as a person, as a unique individual," said Dr. Sequeira. For a doctor in training, coming here was quite gratifying because I was able to learn about the different programs CAMO has. I spent six months learning about the specialties of neurology, ophthalmology, and dermatology."

Dr. Sequeira, being the first, assisted us to set up a rotational program for other doctors doing their social service with CAMO Honduras. We presently have five social service doctors who are rotating and working in our different medical and educational programs.

From its inception, CAMO has paved the way in training and has filled many gaps in services. Case in point is our Audiometry program. In 1993, CAMO identified there were no audiometry professionals in Honduras. Together with Dr. Richard Nodar of the Cleveland Clinic, an audiometry training program was created. We are proud to say we recently welcomed one of the first audiometry students graduating with the specialty of phono-audiology. This specialized curriculum was developed at CAMO in 2017.

CAMO has always been committed to bringing world-class training so we can provide the best medical services to those we serve.

The elementary school of El Pinal, San Juan de Opoa, has been added to our Integrated Education and Health Program. At the end of February, students received textbooks in the subject areas of Spanish, Math, and Science. These books were made possible by Coffee Planet and HQC, which funded the purchase of textbooks for 133 students. CAMO has 16 rural schools in the program, representing 1,246 students.

A new year has brought another opportunity for CAMO to send out our dental brigades. Every week, a team of up to four dentists and dental assistants travel to rural Honduran communities to evaluate and provide dental treatment. Many smiles will be restored!
