

Bio: Mandy O'Malley has dedicated over 25 years to nonprofit work in a variety of positions from direct client service to leadership roles. A Sarasota native, she is passionate about strengthening her community and fostering meaningful connections that help everyone thrive. She has extensive experience providing training and developing community programs to support those impacted by adversity. As the Director of Community Outreach and Training, Mandy is thrilled to combine these experiences with the mission of Resilient Retreat which resonates so loudly for her both personally and professionally. Outside of work, she enjoys reading, baking, watching sports, and spending family time with her husband, young adult sons, and menagerie of rescue pets.
