

Teatime

TRIVIA

- In what order are the courses of afternoon tea eaten?
 - scones, savories, sweets
 - sweets, savories, scones
 - savories, scones, sweets
- How many courses are served in a “cream tea”?
 - one
 - two
 - four
- How do you eat a scone?
 - cut it in pieces
 - break it in half by hand
 - break it in small pieces by hand*
- Is “afternoon tea” or “tea” the same as “high tea”?
 - yes
 - no
- A Cornish scone has
 - jam on the bottom, clotted cream on top
 - clotted cream on the bottom, jam on top
- A Devon scone has
 - jam on the bottom, clotted cream on top
 - clotted cream on the bottom, jam on top
- How does the Queen of England prefer her scone?
 - Devon style
 - Cornish style
- Which of the following utensils is NOT used during afternoon tea?
 - knife
 - fork
 - spoon
- High tea is served
 - in the afternoon
 - in the evening
 - anytime you're hungry
- Where should the pinky be when holding a teacup?
 - up
 - down
- Who should pour the tea?
 - the hostess
 - the guest of honor
 - the oldest person in the room
- How do you stir your tea?
 - in a circle
 - up and down
 - with a spoon
- Use milk and sugar only for
 - herbal tea
 - oolong tea
 - black tea
 - green tea
- According to legend, tea was first discovered by whom?
 - by Tutankhamun, Pharaoh of Egypt
 - by Charles Grey, Earl of Bergamot
 - by Shennong, Emperor of China
 - by Fiacre, patron saint of medicinal herbs
- Tea is the second most consumed beverage on earth. What's first?
 - milk
 - beer
 - Coca Cola
 - water
- On average, US citizens use ½ lb. of tea annually as opposed to the seven pounds of tea a year consumed by natives of the country with the highest per capita consumption rate:
 - Turkey
 - United Kingdom
 - Morocco
 - Russia

Mark one answer per question, and leave this completed entry form at the circulation desk no later than Saturday, November 28

Your name _____

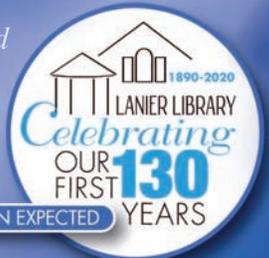

Address _____

City/State/Zip _____

Phone _____

Email _____

Only three winners can attend in person the LeDuc Sisters' Holiday Tea Party but all are welcomed to participate online December 10.

MORE THAN EXPECTED