You could also enjoy a leisurely lunch with someone special and decide what to do for the next couple of hours. The area abounds in rich history and shopping opportunities. History, adventure, and nature in Harpers Ferry, West Virginia. Harpers Ferry lies across the bridge from Maryland at the intersection of the Shenandoah and Potomac Rivers. It is a quaint town full of amazing Civil War history, and in the fall, the foliage along the Potomac River is dazzling. It is a beautiful place to spend a day or, better yet, a weekend. Take In Civil War History And Amazing Views At Harpers Ferry National Historical Park.

Harpers Ferry National Historical Park is run by the National Park Service and encompasses a series of museums where you can learn about the Civil War history of the area. History buffs will especially enjoy the guided tour of the site of the Battle of Bolivar Heights.

For incredible views of the rivers and Harpers Ferry, hike up to Maryland Heights. The 5-mile Maryland Heights Loop is a crowd favorite. It’s rated moderately difficult — the first half mile is uphill — but then the hike is pretty simple. If you hike the entire loop, you’ll return to the point where you started.

Another hike that provides fantastic views is the Loudoun Heights Trail. This out-and-back trail near Harpers Ferry leads to Split Rock. It’s rated moderate, since there are roots and rocks plus elevation to contend with. The payoff is spectacular, however, featuring scenic views of the Shenandoah, the Potomac, and the town of Harpers Ferry.

Visit The Civil War Living History Museum. This museum is tiny, but it provides a clear and concise timeline of Civil War history and houses plenty of artifacts and photographs. A visit to the Civil War Living History Museum will not take long, but the attraction is well worth stopping to see.

Awards Banquet - Grand Ball Room

Welcome reception - 6pm to 7pm with pictures taken of individuals or groups. Steven Bailey, HBAWV President and Craig Blair, WV Lt. Governor will be our keynote speaker. Awards dinner - 7pm - 10pm presenting the 2021 “Best of West Virginia” building awards, “Henry E. King Award”, “Associate of the Year”, “Shining Star” and Presidential Awards.
