

INTERESTED IN UNDERGRADUATE RESEARCH?

Explore opportunities using the Undergraduate Student Research Placement Tool (USRPT)

What is it? A college-wide tool to help you locate open undergraduate research positions for summer 2021. This tool aims to support access and equity for all students within the college to participate in undergraduate research.

- Why research?
- Offers the opportunity to contribute to a research project that helps solve some of societies' most demanding challenges.
 - Offers the opportunity to explore a possible future career path.
 - Helps prepare you for graduate/professional school or a research career.
 - Further develops your analytical, problem-solving and communication skills to reinforce and apply your classroom learning.
 - Helps you build strong relationships with faculty, graduate students and other researchers.
 - May offer a paid position or the opportunity to meet Honors program requirements.

How to apply

1. Review open positions (new positions will be added until March 31)
2. Complete online application
3. Contact faculty directly to inquiry about open position(s)

Learn more at go.osu.edu/USRPT

Application window

Feb 1 - April 30

Positions will be filled on a rolling basis.

Application: go.osu.edu/usrpt_student

