With over 30 years of recruiting experience, Becky has successfully partnered with businesses across a range of industries to identify top talent and build high-performing teams. Her experience spans across talent acquisition and staffing, with a focus on creating meaningful connections that benefit both clients and candidates. Becky brings a consultative approach to recruitment, aiming not only to place top talent but also to foster personal and professional growth for every individual that she works with.

Before entering the executive search industry, Becky began her career as a recruiter with the Art Institutes International, a proprietary career college offering associate's, bachelor's, and master's programs. These programs focused on practical, hands-on training in fields such as commercial and media arts, interior and fashion design, and culinary arts. Consistently one of the top-performing Presidents Club recruiters for seven consecutive years, Becky had the privilege of guiding students and their families through one of the most important decisions of their lives—choosing the right career path. She has remained committed to helping individuals achieve their career aspirations.

In 2012, Becky launched her own staffing firm, initially recruiting for proprietary career colleges. Since then, she has expanded her expertise across industries including culinary arts, food and beverage, architecture and planning, commercial landscaping, manufacturing, and legal, adapting seamlessly to meet diverse hiring needs. Her services include sourcing candidates, career coaching, interview preparation, and LinkedIn strategy. Becky prides herself on an in-depth search process that allows her to specialize across a variety of fields, ensuring the right candidate aligns with each client's unique requirements.

As a mom of three college-age boys, she and her husband have been actively involved in their education and athletic pursuits, with their sons excelling in collegiate lacrosse, tennis, soccer, golf, skiing, and professional-level pickleball—you name it, they've done it. When she's not volunteering in the community or supporting youth sports, Becky enjoys spending time at the Jersey Shore with her family, staying active outdoors, and supporting local musicians and restaurants.
