Dive 1st Aid to Showcase Safety Innovations and Exclusive Deals at the Atlantic City Scuba Show

Fresh off a massively successful event in Long Beach, California, the premier dive safety brand brings its momentum, exclusive deals, and cutting-edge hyperbaric technology to the East Coast. Dive 1st Aid, the medical supplier to the dive industry, is excited to announce its participation in the upcoming Scuba Show, taking place at the Atlantic City Convention Center on June 6 and 7, 2026.

After an amazingly successful Scuba Show in Long Beach, California, where several hundred divers stopped by the Dive 1st Aid booth to learn more about the brand's line of safety products and connect with the team. Carrying that incredible momentum across the coast, Dive 1st Aid invites East Coast attendees to visit Booth 312 to experience advanced safety technology firsthand and take advantage of show-exclusive discounts.

Aligning with their core mission, "PREPARE, PROTECT, & DIVE CONFIDENT.", Dive 1st Aid will offer significant savings on a comprehensive range of essential supplies. This is the perfect opportunity for individual divers, instructors, and dive center operators to restock or upgrade their safety protocols. Key product categories on sale will include:

- Professional Scuba First Aid Kits: From individual personal kits to comprehensive team setups.
- Emergency Oxygen Systems: High-performance systems critical for immediate on-site response.
- Emergency Signaling & Gear: Critical devices for communication and rescue.

A major highlight of this year's booth is a firsthand look at two innovative safety technologies:

- See & Learn: Relief Band Technology: Discover the power of drug-free, non-invasive technology for managing motion sickness and nausea. Attendees can experience a live demonstration of Relief Band and learn how it provides a critical comfort solution for boat travel and diving expeditions.
- See & Learn: SOS Group Hyperlite SL-1 Portable Recompression Chamber: In a must-see event, Dive 1st Aid is proud to present the groundbreaking Hyperlite SL-1 portable recompression chamber by SOS Group. This compact and highly transportable system offers unparalleled flexibility and is a game-changer for remote and expedition diving safety. Learn firsthand about its capabilities, including 100% oxygen therapies, from experts on hand.
-

"We are coming off an amazing, successful Scuba Show in Long Beach, where it was incredibly rewarding to have several hundred divers stop by the booth, ask fantastic questions, and take control of their dive safety," said Matt Seibert, President of Dive 1st Aid. "We are thrilled to bring that same energy and our best safety solutions to the Atlantic City Scuba Show. From small, individual kits to advanced, expedition-level recompression chambers like the SOS Group Hyperlite SL-1, we ensure divers and operators have the tools to 'DIVE CONFIDENT.'"

Don't miss out on these exclusive deals and a chance to experience the future of dive safety. Visit Dive 1st Aid at Booth 312 at the Scuba Show (https://scubashow.com/atlantic-city-scuba-show/)on June 6 and 7, 2026.

For more information and to learn more about our product line, please visit www.Dive1stAid.com