

Ready to Care for You

As we begin to reopen services we want to stress that we are here ready to care for you and that you are Safe with Us. You may see some changes when it is time for your next appointment or visit to protect patients and staff. Some of these measures include:

- Screening guidelines and hospital entry protocols
- Patient and staff masking policies
- COVID-19 testing for all inpatients
- Continued visitor restrictions
- Waiting room reconfigurations to support social distancing
- Expanded appointment schedules to facilitate frequent cleaning and other infection prevention measures

We are constantly reviewing guidance from public health experts and updating our practices and protocols accordingly based on the most current information. We are blessed to have a team of incredible infectious disease specialists – physicians and nurses who are advising us every step of the way as we respond to this pandemic and begin shifting to our new normal operations.

For more information visit www.lowellgeneral.org/safewithus.
For the latest updates and COVID-19 resources visit www.lowellgeneral.org/COVID-19.

Special thanks to the Lowell Sun for sponsoring this message to our community.