California	Executive Action	Executive Press Release	Governor Gavin Newsom (D) unveiled six key indicators that will guide California's thinking for when and how to modify the stay-at-home and other orders during the COVID-19 pandemic. Any consideration of modifying the stay-at-home order must be done using a gradual, science-based and data-driven framework. California's six indicators for modifying the stay-at-home order are: 1) ability to monitor and protect our communities through testing, contact tracing, isolating, and supporting those who are positive or exposed; 2) ability to prevent infection in people who are at risk for more severe COVID-19; 3) ability of the hospital and health systems to handle surges; 4) ability to develop therapeutics to meet the demand; 5) ability for businesses, schools, and child care facilities to support physical distancing; and 6) ability to determine when to reinstitute certain measures, such as the stay-at-home orders, if necessary. California	Executive Action	Executive Press Release	Governor Gavin Newsom (D) announced the formation of a state Task Force on Business and Jobs Recovery. The Task Force will be co-chaired by Governor Newsom's Chief of Staff Ann O'Leary and philanthropist, environmentalist and businessman Tom Steyer, who was also appointed Chief Advisor to the Governor on Business and Jobs Recovery. The Task Force will work to develop actions government and businesses can take to help Californians recover as fast as safely possible from the COVID-19 induced recession and to shape a fair, green, and prosperous future. They will meet twice a month throughout 2020 to develop options that would work for all Californians, with a particular focus on those hardest hit by the pandemic.	N/A	Click Here
California	Executive Action	Executive Press Release	Governor Gavin Newsom (D) has announced plans to allow hospitals and health systems to resume delayed medical care such as heart valve replacements, angioplasty and tumor removals, and key preventive care services, such as colonoscopies which were deferred as the state's health care delivery systems prepared for a surge of COVID-19 patients. The decision was based on progress toward preparing California hospitals and health systems for a surge in COVID-19 patients – one of the six critical indicators the governor unveiled as part of the state's framework for gradually modifying California's stay-at-home order. Colorado	Executive Action	Executive Press Release	Governor Jared Polis (D) discussed what next steps will look like as health and safety restrictions change in the coming days and weeks. The governor discussed new modeling showing the state will not need to extend the Stay-at-Home order, but will need to continue a variety of long-term social distancing measures. There are three levels of social distancing, which include: Staying at Home, Safer at Home, and Protect our Neighbors. On April 27, the state will be moving onto the Safer at Home phase. During this Safer at Home phase many non-essential businesses and industry sectors will be allowed to gradually reopen with strict precautions including real estate; salons; tattoo parlors; pet grooming; personal training; and more. Some retailers may be open for curbside delivery. Elective medical and dental services will be able to begin again with strict precautions. Colorado	Executive Action	Executive Order 2020-44 (amended and extended) / Executive Order 2020-79	Governor Jared Polis (D) has issued a Safer At Home Order as previously announced in press conferences. All individuals that have tested positive, all adults 65+, and those individuals at high-risk should continue to stay at home. This order requires the CDPHE to issue a new or amended PHO advising the public to wear face coverings; to strongly encourage all businesses to allow telework; to require all businesses to make work accommodations for vulnerable individuals who remain subject to Stay At Home requirements; to permit non-critical retail to operate via delivery and curbside service; to implement mandatory social distancing protocols; and more. Refer to order. This order maintains that all P-12 schools are closed for the schoolyear but allows districts to use buildings for providing certain services to students, educators, and families. The CDPHE released the guidance requested by the order. Refer to link for full guidance broken down by industry sector. The governor has amended and extended EO 2020-44 until June 1. Changes include allowing restaurants to resume on-premise dining on May 27 under safety protocols including but not limited to capping occupancy at 50% and requiring staff to wear face coverings. Guidance has been issued. Refer to link. Children's day camps and youth sports camps will open on June 1 under safety protocols. Hawaii	Executive Action	Executive Press Release	Governor David Ige (D) has unveiled the re-opening and recovery plan for the State of Hawai'i — a strategy that conveys the coordinated, statewide approach to jumpstarting the economy and recovery from the COVID-19 crisis. According to the plan – the state will start to gradually re-open medium-risk businesses and operations beginning in June – assuming the state's COVID-19 activity remains manageable. The re-opening of high-risk businesses and operations will eventually follow, as long as Hawai'i's disease activity continues to remain manageable. Under the emergency proclamation, county mayors will have the authority to make decisions for their counties – including re-opening businesses and implementing restrictions – with the governor's approval. Reopening will be a County by County process.	n/a	Press Release	Governor's Memo	Reopening Plan Slide Deck

Hawaii	Executive Action	Executive Press Release	Governor Ige (D) announced more detail on the State's Beyond Recovery: Reopening Strategy, residents can now view the entire detailed strategy online. A phased approach to reopening is already underway, with a continued focus on four key public health pillars: 1) Prevention: Safe practices, self-isolation and quarantine 2) Detection: Provide a robust picture of infections in communities 3) Containment: Investigate, test, isolate and monitor cases and close contacts 4) Treatment: Clinical care and treatment, symptom management The state roadmap to recovery and resiliency includes 4 distinct phases: Stabilization, Reopening, Long-term Recovery, and Resilience. The state is currently in phase 2, the Reopening Phase, with an emphasis on strengthening and promoting the Kama'aina Economy. During this phase interisland travel will reopen without quarantine restrictions on June 16. This phase is informed by the "Act with Care" impact level, which asks all Hawai'i residents to continue Safe Practices recommended by the State Department of Health such as handwashing, physical distancing, and wearing face coverings. As phase 2 transitions into phase 3, Long-term Recovery, there will be consideration for reopening highest-risk businesses and operations, including increasing the size of allowable gatherings. These decisions will happen with caution and adjustments to Safe Practices as conditions evolve. The Resilience phase, or phase 4, is the state's intended outcome. This envisions an adaptive workforce, a flexible business environment, and an innovative economy.	Active	Click Here

Hawaii	Executive Action	Executive Press Release	Governor David Ige (D) announced in advance of the reopening of interisland travel in Hawai'i, June 16, the Department of Health is directing travelers to a new website, where you can download the mandatory interisland travel and health form. State officials are working toward an online form that will be linked to a QR code for expedited scanning and screening at the airport, but that option is not available yet. Travelers are encouraged, very much like in the post-911 world, to get to the airport in plenty of time to clear health screenings, which includes submittal of the travel form and a thermal screen. Anyone who does not provide the form or has a temperature of greater than 100.4 degrees will not be allowed to fly. The health information is collected prior to TSA security screening. Hawaii	Executive Action	Executive Press Release	Governor David Ige (D) announced all travelers arriving in Hawai'i from out-of-state will be required to get a valid COVID-19 test prior to their arrival, and to show proof of a negative test result, to avoid the 14-day quarantine. The pre-travel testing program begins August 1. Out-of-state travelers arriving in Hawai'i must get a PCR test prior to arrival from any testing location approved by the Hawai'i State Department of Health. Evidence of a negative test result must be provided upon arrival in Hawai'i. Without this, passengers arriving from out-of-state will be subject to the 14-day quarantine. No testing will be provided upon arrival at the airport.	Active	Click Here
Hawaii	Executive Action	Executive Press Release	Governor David Ige (D) announced he will delay the launch of the pre-travel testing program for incoming travelers to Hawai'i. The program is now scheduled to begin on September 1. This means all travelers entering the State of Hawai'i will be subject to the mandatory 14-day quarantine until September 1, when the pre-travel testing program is scheduled to begin. The Governor made this decision in collaboration with Hawai'i's four county mayors. Several factors contributed to the decision to delay the pre-travel testing program.	Active	Click Here

Idaho	Executive Action	Executive Press Release	Governor Brad Little (R) has announced new plans to help Idaho rebound from the economic impacts of coronavirus. "Idaho will be better positioned for a strong economic rebound because of the difficult changes we are making in the short-term," Governor Little said. "Like everyone, I want our economy back up and running as soon as possible, but we simply cannot open everything all at once and reverse the good work we have done collectively over the past month to slow the spread of coronavirus. We have a plan to reopen our economy in stages, consistent with direction from the President." The plan is designed to reopen the economy in stages with strict protocols for businesses. In the current released plan, the earliest proposed date for any non-essential business to reopen is May 1 if all state criteria is met. Refer to link. Idaho is still under a statewide stay-home order until April 30. Governor Little will make an announcement next week about whether Idaho has met the criteria to enter into the next stage of reopening. The governor also announced the creation of his Economic Rebound Advisory Committee, made up of business leaders across the state. The group will provide recommendations that work to rebuild employee and consumer confidence, provide for business stability and growth, and eventually business promotion and attraction. Idaho	Executive Action	Executive Press Release	Governor Little (R) and the Testing Task Force have recommended that testing across all groups of people should be expanded. This will include testing of both symptomatic and some asymptomatic people based on priority level. The task force proposed five testing priority levels based on testing need. Priority 1 represents people with the highest need for testing (such as healthcare workers, residents of nursing homes, and others) and priority 5 represents those with the lowest need. Also, investment in local testing capacity must be significantly increased. The expansion of molecular diagnostic testing now, which in combination with proven public health practices such as tracing, physical distancing, enhanced sanitation, hand hygiene, and instructing ill people to stay home to protect others, will help stop the spread of COVID-19. Finally, a limited use of serologic (antibody) testing, which detects human antibodies to the virus. The presence of antibodies tells us who has been exposed to the virus in the past, but that does not guarantee they will be protected from re-infection. There will be important public health uses for serology testing, but at a later point in the response.	Active	Click Here

Idaho	Executive Action	Executive Press Release	Governor Little (R) and the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare have developed guidance to assist with decisions regarding gatherings and public events during the COVID 19 pandemic and stages of the Rebound Idaho plan. We understand that events must be planned well in advance and some event timelines extend beyond the current Stage 4 of the Rebound Idaho plan. Idaho's ability to advance from one stage to the next is dependent on gating criteria (https://rebound.idaho.gov/ stages-of-reopening/) being met, which requires control of the spread of COVID-19 For the purpose of this guidance, mass gatherings and events are defined as a public gathering for business, social, academic or recreational activities including, but not limited to, community, civic, public, educational, leisure, or sporting events, parades, concerts, festivals, conventions, fundraisers and similar activities. Specific examples may include, but are not limited to, weddings, graduations, large theater performances, rallies, car shows, reunions, races, holiday celebrations, rodeo championships, adult and youth sports tournaments. Kentucky	Executive Action	Executive Press Release	Governor Andy Beshear (D) announced the launch of "Healthy at Work," a new initiative to help Kentucky businesses reopen safely as we fight the novel coronavirus 2019 (COVID-19). "We want to make sure that when we hit that mark, knowing that we may only know five days in, that we're ready and that when it is safe to do something, we can immediately start doing it," the Governor said. But he warned against opening up too soon. "When we look at the long-term reopening of the economy, we do it by not being foolish or making risky decisions," He said. "It's how we come out of this strong." The plan offers a phased approach to reopening Kentucky's economy. It is based on criteria set by public health experts and advice from industry experts. During Phase 1 of Healthy at Work, the Kentucky Department for Public Health will determine whether Kentucky has met certain public health benchmarks for reopening Kentucky's economy. These benchmarks closely follow the White House's Guidelines for Reopening America. During Phase 2 of Healthy at Work, the Department for Public Health will evaluate individual businesses' ability to safely reopen. During Phase 2 of Healthy at Work, the Department for Public Health will evaluate individual businesses' ability to safely reopen. Businesses closed due to COVID-19 may begin submitting reopen proposals via the online reopen application. The Department for Public Health will evaluate these proposals based on White House guidelines and other government benchmarks. Among other things, each business proposal is required to explain its ability to provide personal protective equipment (PPE) to employees, adequate access to hand sanitizer and disinfectant, and minimal direct contact between employees and the public. Kentucky	Executive Action	Executive Press Release	Governor Andy Beshear (D) announced that the phased restart of Kentucky's economy will begin April 27, with a segment of the health care services industry. The easing of restrictions will allow for diagnostic and radiology testing, as well as non-urgent, emergent, in-person office and ambulatory visits. The Governor said the phased health care services reopening is the first under the Healthy at Work initiative he introduced to help businesses reopen safely when the time is right.	N/A	Click Here
Kentucky	Executive Action	Executive press Release	Governor Andy Beshear (D) offered new details on restarting the Health care industry sector while continuing to keep Kentuckians safe from the novel coronavirus 2019 (COVID-19). This phased reopening of health care services is the first step under the Healthy at Work initiative the Governor introduced to help businesses restart operations safely when the time is right. The initiative set out public health benchmarks for reopening Kentucky's economy. These benchmarks closely follow the White House's Guidelines for Reopening America. On April 27, under Phase 1, health care practitioners can resume non-urgent/emergent health care services, diagnostic radiology and lab services. Phase 2 is set to begin Wednesday, May 6. At that time, outpatient surgeries and other invasive procedures can resume, though hospital and care facilities will have to meet strict guidelines. Phase 3 is scheduled to start Wednesday, May 13. Hospitals and care facilities can begin doing non-emergency surgeries and procedures at 50% of their pre-COVID-19-era patient volume. Officials want the final stage, Phase 4, to being Wednesday, May 27. At that point, most of the restrictions on types of procedures and volume will be left to the facilities to determine. However, oversight and guidelines meant to ensure that capacity remains in the system will continue.	Active	Click Here
Kentucky	Executive Action	Executive Press Release	Governor Andy Beshear (D) on April 28 shared new guidelines to help businesses reopen safely as we fight the novel coronavirus 2019 (COVID-19). The Governor unveiled a new, 10-point plan that aims to guide businesses as they prepare for a gradual reopening while continuing to keep all workers and patrons safe. He said the guidelines apply to most employers. On April 29, the governor released an update on this plan. The governor said that as long as Kentucky keeps up the fight against the coronavirus with promising results, the following business sectors are in line to restart: May 11 – Manufacturing, construction, vehicle and vessel dealerships, professional services (at 50% of pre-outbreak capacity), horse racing (without spectators), pet grooming and boarding May 20 – Retail, houses of worship May 25 – Social gatherings of no more than 10 people, barbers, salons, cosmetology businesses and similar services	Active	Click Here	4/29 Update

Maine	Executive Action	Executive Press Release	Governor Janet Mills (D) has issued the following statement in response to the President's Guidelines for Opening Up America Again: "We all want life to return to normal as soon as it is safe to do so. Our hearts break to see closed storefronts and people struggling to make ends meet because of this crisis. At the same time, we all know that reopening too soon and too aggressively will likely cause a secondary surge in COVID 19 cases, jeopardizing the lives of Maine people and further destabilizing the economy. None of us want that. I have been speaking with a number of economic leaders, including the President of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston. Their message is clear: the most important thing we can do to turn the economy around is to defeat the virus. As the President acknowledges, the Governors are in charge of reopening their states' economies and gradually lifting public health restrictions. Here in Maine, we too are planning a phased-in reopening, tailored to the demographics and various economic sectors of our state. Ultimately, the protocols we adopt, made after consulting with people from all parts of the state, will be guided by fact, science and public health expertise. As the President's guidelines note, widespread testing, personal protective equipment, and contact tracing are critical to lifting restrictions and reviving the economy; for that reason, the nation's governors yesterday again urged the Federal government to ensure that all states have these resources. I remain in contact with Governor Sununu of New Hampshire and Governor Scott of Vermont regarding actions that may be appropriate for the northern New England region. My Administration, through the Department of Economic and Community Development, has been connecting with individual economic sectors across the state to devise a plan for how we gradually reopen the Maine economy. Those decisions, of course, are driven first and foremost by the need to protect the public health. We will release details of the plan in the near future."	N/A	Click Here

Maine	Executive Action	Executive Press Release	Governor Janet Mills today presented her Administration's plan to gradually and safely restart Maine's economy. The plan, which comes as the State appears to be successfully flattening the curve, establishes four gradual stages of reopening, the first of which begins May 1st. The stages focus not on essential v. non-essential designations like those used to originally limit business operations and activities, but on the ability of a business to operate or an activity to occur in a manner that protects public health and safety. As the Administration gradually eases restrictions on some businesses and activities, it also implements protective protocols, along with broader additional health and safety measures, to protect Maine people. Non-essential businesses must remain closed. The order also rescinds the original order and has clarified the original language. This order must be construed broadly to prohibit in-person work that is not necessary to sustain or protect life. Individuals must secure such services or supplies via delivery to the maximum extent possible. Essential businesses must determine which of their workers are critical infrastructure workers and inform such workers of that designation. In-person activities that are not necessary to sustain or protect life must be suspended until normal operations resume. Businesses and operations maintaining in-person activities must adopt social distancing practices and other mitigation measures. Stores remaining open for in-person sales must establish lines to regulate entry with markings for patrons to stand 6 feet apart and consider establishing curbside pickup. Stores less than 50,000 sq. ft. must limit the number of people in the store to 25% capacity. Stores that are larger than 50,000 sq. ft. must limit the number of customers in at one time to 4 people per 1,000 sq. ft.; close areas of the store that are dedicated to sell carpet or flooring, furniture, garden centers and plat nurseries, and paint; refrain from advertising goods that are not groceries, medical supplies, or items that are necessary to maintain the safety, sanitation, and basic operation of residences; and create at least two hours per week of dedicated shopping time for vulnerable populations. The order also prohibits short-term rentals except as necessary to assist in housing a health care professional or volunteer. EO 2020-59 has extended the Stay At Home Order until May 15. Changes to the original order include requiring employers to provide cloth face coverings for employees and members of the public to wear face coverings in enclosed public spaces. The order also allows retailers that do not sell necessary supplies to reopen for curbside pickup and delivery; big box stores to reopen the areas that were closed by the original order; bike repair and maintenance stores to reopen; moving and storage operations; and landscapers, lawn-service companies, and nurseries to reopen under the same protocols as listed above. Minnesota	Executive Action	Executive Press Release	Governor Tim Walz (D) has outlined next steps for the COVID-19 response in Minnesota. With the health and safety of Minnesotans his top priority, he made clear the Stay Home order remains in effect as we consider ways to gradually loosen restrictions starting with settings most conducive to safe practices. Given those considerations, Governor Walz announced that distance learning will continue through the rest of the 2019-2020 school calendar year. As he laid out his approach for gradually loosening restrictions on Minnesota businesses over time, Governor Walz today announced his decision to allow certain non-critical businesses to safely return to work. Developed in partnerships with hundreds of businesses, labor and worker organizations, and public health experts, this action will allow 80,000-100,000 Minnesotans to return to work in industrial, manufacturing, and office settings on Monday, April 27. Prior to loosening restrictions for a given setting, businesses must: 1) Create, share, and implement a COVID-19 Preparedness Plan that sets out the actions they are taking to ensure social distancing, worker hygiene, and facility cleaning and disinfection necessary to keep workers safe; 2) Engage in health screening of employees and ensure that sick employees stay home; and 3) Continue to work from home whenever possible. Missouri	Executive Action	Executive Press Release	Governor Mike Parson (R) has announced Missouri's "Show Me Strong" Recovery Plan to safely and gradually reopen the state's economy. "Between now and May 4, we will continue to monitor the situation and work with Missouri's hospitals, health care providers, public health experts, business leaders, and state departments to develop a data driven plan," Governor Parson said. "We will also be reaching out to the business community, as well as local county and city government, to put these plans in place for May 4 and begin the first phase of reopening Missouri." The plan is deliberate and data-driven with two initial phases intended to protect those most at risk of exposure to COVID-19 while returning Missouri to a new normal. Additionally, the "Show Me Strong Recovery" plan rests on four essential pillars: 1) Rapidly expand testing capacity and volume in the state, including testing for those who are currently contagious and those who have developed immunity to the virus; 2) Expand reserves of PPE by opening public and private supply chains and continuing to utilize Missouri businesses in that effort;3) Continue to monitor and, if necessary, expand hospital and health care system capacity, including isolation and alternate care facilities for those that cannot self-quarantine at home; and, 4) Improve ability to predict potential outbreaks using Missouri's public health data. This framework will allow the state to work through a gradual reopening, leading to broader economic recovery. Specifically, Missouri's economic recovery plans will focus on the diversity of Missouri – its people, businesses, communities, and infrastructure, among others.	N/A	Click Here

Multi-State Councils	Executive Action	Executive Press Releases - California, Oregon, Washington, Nevada, Colorado	California Governor Gavin Newsom, Oregon Governor Kate Brown, and Washington Governor Jay Inslee, later joined by Nevada Governor Steve Sisolak and Colorado Governor Jared Polis (D), have announced that their states will work together on a shared approach for reopening their economies – one that identifies clear indicators for communities to restart public life and business. While each state is building a state-specific plan, the states have agreed to the following principles as we build out a West Coast framework: The governors states that their residents' health comes first. As home to one in six Americans and gateway to the rest of the world, the West Coast has an outsized stake in controlling and ultimately defeating COVID-19. Health outcomes and science – not politics - will guide these decisions. Modifications to states' stay at home orders must be made based off our understanding of the total health impacts of COVID-19, including: the direct impact of the disease on our communities; the health impact of measures introduced to control the spread in communities — particularly felt by those already experiencing social disadvantage prior to COVID-19; and the health care systems' ability to ensure care for those who may become sick with COVID-19 and other conditions. This effort will be guided by data. The states need to see a decline in the rate of spread of the virus before large-scale reopening, and we will be working in coordination to identify the best metrics to guide this. The states will only be effective by working together. Each state will work with it's local leaders and communities within its borders to understand what's happening on the ground and adhere to our agreed upon approach. Multi-State Councils	Executive Action	Executive Press Releases - Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio, Wisconsin	Illinois Governor JB Pritzker, Indiana Governor Eric Holcomb, Kentucky Governor Andy Beshear, Michigan Governor Gretchen Whitmer, Minnesota Governor Tim Walz, Ohio Governor Mike DeWine, and Wisconsin Governor Tony Evers announced that their states will work in close coordination to reopen their economies. The governors' statement said that the number one priority when analyzing when best to reopen our economy is the health and safety of our citizens. We will make decisions based on facts, science, and recommendations from experts in health care, business, labor, and education. The governors' also said that they will closely examine at least these four factors when determining when best to reopen the economy: sustained control of the rate of new infections and hospitalizations; enhanced ability to test and trace; sufficient health care capacity to handle resurgence; and best practices for social distancing in the workplace. New Mexico	Regulatory Action	Public Health Order	The Secretary of the NM Department of Health, Kathleen Kunkel, announced the extension of New Mexico's emergency public health order through May 15. The order maintains the directive that New Mexicans remain at home except for essential outings and the directive against gatherings of more than five people. Restaurants and dine-in outlets may provide only curbside and delivery service, as before. Grocers and other essential retail services must continue to operate at only 20 percent of their maximum capacity as determined by fire code. The order announces partial re-openings, including: state parks, golf courses, pet services, and firearm retailers by appointment to conduct background checks and to allow individuals to take possession of firearms ordered online. New Mexico	Executive Action	Public Health Order	Governor Michelle Lujan Grisham (D) and Department of Health Secretary Kathleen Kunkel have amended the state public health emergency order clarifying some of the steps businesses must take in order to operate. Beginning May 6, all large grocery and large retail spaces (those greater than 50,000 square feet in size) and all restaurants currently operating curbside and delivery service will be required to ensure that all employees have at least cloth face coverings. Beginning May 11, all essential businesses of any size currently operating under the public health order must also comply with the face covering requirement. All employers are strongly encouraged to acquire the face coverings for all employees over the next week, in preparation for a potential Phase One reopening in mid-May. Otherwise they may not be able to operate in compliance with state requirements. Retailers will not be required to provide face coverings for customers but are encouraged to post signage strongly encouraging customers to wear their own masks. Retailers at their own discretion may require customers to wear masks. The Department also released COVID-Safe practices for all employers. Refer to link.	Active	Click Here	Safe Practices

New Mexico	Executive Action	Executive Press Release	Governor Michelle Lujan Grisham (D) and state health officials announced on May 13 that New Mexico's emergency public health order, set to expire May 15, will be extended through May 31. The changes are part of New Mexico's phased plan for a safe and gradual reopening based on "gating criteria" that show a generally decreasing transmission rate, adequate testing, contact tracing and hospital capacity, and adequate supply of personal protective equipment. The order will be modified to, beginning May 16, allow most retailers to operate at 25% of their maximum occupancy as determined by fire code. Non-essential businesses generally may operate according to CSPs at up to 25% of pre-crisis staffing levels. Masks will be required of everyone in public places. The three counties – McKinley, San Juan and Cibola – in the state's northwestern public health region that remains a COVID-19 hotspot are exempt from the new order but will be allowed to move into the preparation phase that began two weeks ago for the rest of the state. The amended public health order will be finalized and distributed later this week upon the expiration of the current emergency order. COVID-safe practices for businesses in New Mexico are available online (refer to link) and will be updated later this week with individualized practices for specific industries.	n/a	Click here	Safe Practices

New Mexico	Executive Action	Executive Press Release / Public Health Order	Governor Michelle Lujan Grisham (D) released the new public health order as outlined in the previous press release (5/13). The order keeps dine-in service at restaurants closed as well as high-contact services such as gyms, salons, indoor malls, and the link. A 14-day quarantine order remains in place for out-of-state airport arrivals. Vacation rentals are prohibited to out-of-state residents. Visits to long-term care and other congregate care facilities remain restricted. As detailed in the previous press release, retailers may begin operating at 25% capacity. Non-essential businesses (other than those that have been excluded by the order) generally may operate to CSPs at up to 25% of pre-crisis staffing levels. All employees should continue to work from home wherever possible. Masks are required of everyone in public places. Oregon	Executive Action	Executive Press Release	Governor Kate Brown (D) has introduced her framework for Reopening Oregon: a plan to restart public life and business while maintaining healthy Oregon communities. The framework sets specific prerequisites based on science, which Oregon communities must meet to begin reopening, and also outlines the actions Oregon must take to move forward. In order to begin reopening communities, Oregon must first slow the growth of COVID-19, as well as acquire adequate personal protective equipment to protect health care workers and first responders. Once those prerequisites are met, Oregon can begin to reopen by: 1) Ramping up COVID-19 testing capacity in every region of Oregon; 2) Developing robust contact tracing systems to track and contain COVID-19 cases; and 3) Establishing a quarantine and isolation program for new cases. A presentation entitled Reopening Oregon was attained by local media. This is not a final plan. Pennsylvania	Legislative Action	House Co-Sponsorship Memorandum	Representative Jake Wheatley, Jr. (D) has announced his intent to sponsor legislation to increase compensation during the corona virus pandemic. In his memo, he said: "Times like this call for bold action, which is why I will be introducing HB 2380, the Emergency Relief for COVID-19 Workers Act. This is an unprecedented piece of legislation aimed at giving widespread relief to those affected by the global pandemic COVID-19. As representatives of the people, it is important we respond to their needs during this time of crisis. I'm offering an extensive list of combined relief efforts particularly directed toward front line, life-sustaining workers, but ultimately all Pennsylvania workers. First and foremost, the bill provides additional wages to essential workers. If an essential worker is making less than $15 an hour, they will be eligible to earn the difference for hours they worked during the health emergency. For example, if a worker makes $10 an hour, they will be eligible for an additional $5 an hour during that time. For workers who makes more than $15 an hour, they will be eligible for and additional $3 per hour during the health emergency. This supplemental wage will be available from the time of March 1, 2020 and ends one month after the emergency is declared over. Second, my legislation will prohibit employers from requiring employees to use their Paid Time Off directly preceding being laid off because of the health emergency. This is a senseless and malicious practice that I would like to see abolished completely, but the bill will only suspend it temporarily during COVID-19. This prohibition will be in place from April 1, 2020 and end one month after the emergency is declared over. Third, House Bill 2380 will suspend all mortgage and rent payments for those who have lost their job due to the pandemic. This would take effect for the time beginning April 1, 2020 and ending one month after the emergency is declared over. Landlords will be able to apply for reimbursement from the State for lost rent during this period. Any business with less than 50 employees who has not received federal stimulus money will also be eligible for this benefit. Finally, my legislation would allow any essential employee who works more than 150 hours during the emergency to apply to have their student loans forgiven in full. The employee must provide proof they were an essential employee and must also provide proof of hours worked. This legislation will be paid for by a bond not to exceed $10 billion."	1st Chamber	Click Here

Pennsylvania	Legislative Action	House Co-Sponsorship Memo	Representatives Jennifer O'Mara (D) and Pam Snyder (D) have announced their intent to sponsor legislation for employees on the frontlines responding to coronavirus right now. In the memo, they said: "Nurses, doctors, EMS, police, firefighters, pharmacists, grocery store employees and so many others are on the frontlines responding to coronavirus right now. They are keeping our health facilities operating, transporting our vulnerable family members and neighbors to get care, and making sure emergency services are still ready for any tragedy that strikes. These people are 'essential employees' in every sense of the word as they are protecting our well-being. Odds are that these everyday heroes will come in personal contact with COVID-19. Workers compensation is currently available to them if they get coronavirus; however, they're still required to prove that COVID-19 is occurring more in their occupation than in the general population. Given the sacrifices that these essential employees are making to keep us safe, we are introducing legislation to eliminate this burden of proof on workers who have contracted COVID-19. Under this bill, coronavirus will be presumed to be an occupational disease for employees of life-sustaining businesses and occupations. Professionals in each of these fields are asking us to make this change happen."	1st Chamber	Click Here
Pennsylvania	Legislative Action	House Co-Sponsorship Memo	Representative Adam Ravenstahl (D) has announced his intent to sponsor legislation to support workers on the front-line of the coronavirus pandemic. In the memo, he said: "We need to have the backs of those workers battling the COVID-19 pandemic. Whether these employees work in emergency services, food service, at gas stations, grocery stores, health care facilities, pharmacies, waste management or any other life-sustaining job, we need to be there for them like they've been there for us. Our frontline workers are at an increased risk of COVID-19 exposure as they sacrifice their health and safety serving our community and families. It is without question that our legislature must act now to make sure these workers have the support of every one of us. It is for these many reasons that I will be introducing legislation to support all workers employed in a life-sustaining business during the declaration of a disaster or public health emergency (including COVID-19). If a life-sustaining worker contracts an infectious disease that requires hospitalization, quarantine, isolation or other controlled measures, my bill establishes the presumption that the worker's medical condition or inability to work was a result of their work-related duties. As such, the worker would not be required to use sick time, vacation time, personal time or any other accrued paid-time off or contractual-time off to cover the period the worker is unable to work. Furthermore, the worker would be eligible and qualified for workers' compensation during the period of incapacitation or inability to work."	1st Chamber	Click Here

Pennsylvania	Executive Action	Executive Press Release	Governor Tom Wolf (D) announced a plan that will provide citizens and businesses relief, allow for a safe and expedient reopening, and lay a road to recovery from the challenges and hardships created by the 2019 novel coronavirus. The administration will work with economic and public health experts to determine the metrics used for safe reopening by taking a regional, sector-based approach. In consultation with Team PA, the Department of Health, the Department of Community and Economic Development, the Department of Labor and Industry, the Pennsylvania Emergency Management Agency, and others, the administration will develop guidance for businesses, local governments, workers, customers, and others and guide a safe reopening process. Developing a recovery framework and programs that make a difference for the people of Pennsylvania is paramount. That framework must include, at a minimum fair, family sustaining wages; expansion of paid sick leave; strengthening unemployment and workers' comp systems; and more. Refer to Link. The plan also outlines actions for recovery for businesses; recovery for healthcare systems and providers; relief for healthcare systems and providers; banks and mortgage servicers; students with loan debt; furloughed individuals; food insecurity; and more. Texas	Executive Action	Executive Order GA-15	Governor Greg Abbott (R) has issued an order that loosens restrictions on surgeries put in place by Governor Abbott in March. Beginning at 11:59pm on April 21 through 11:59pm on May 8, all licensed health care professionals and all licensed health care facilities must continue to postpone all surgeries and procedures that are not medically necessary to diagnose or correct a serious medical condition of, or to preserve the life of, a patient who without timely performance of the surgery or procedure would be at risk for serious adverse medical consequences or death as determined by a patient's physician. Exceptions now include: any procedure that, if performed in accordance with the commonly accepted standard of clinical practice, would not deplete the hospital capacity or the PPE needed to cope with COVID-19, or any surgery or procedure performed in a licensed health care facility that has certified in writing to Texas HHSC both (1) that it will reserve at least 25% of its hospital capacity for treatment of COVID-19 patients, accounting for the range of clinical severity of COVID-19 patients, and (2) that it will not request any PPE from any public source — whether federal, state, or local — for the duration of the COVID-19 disaster. Vermont	Executive Action	Executive Press Release	Governor Phil Scott (R) has outlined an approach for the phased restart of Vermont's economy, emphasizing the state's modeling indicates initial steps can be taken while the Stay Home, Stay Safe order remains in effect. Governor Scott outlined a measured, phased approach to reopen the economy - balancing the need to improve overall social and economic wellbeing with the need to prevent a resurgence of COVID-19 outbreaks. The Governor also outlined five principles, developed in collaboration with the Vermont Department of Health, the State Emergency Operations Center (SEOC), ACCD and others, which will guide the state's Restart Vermont planning and decision-making process. They are: 1) Keep our eyes on the data: The administration will continue to be guided by data and modeling, and track any changes to case trends, infection and death rates; 2) Maintain health care readiness: The administration will continue monitoring and maintaining the state stockpile and distribution of personal protective equipment (PPE) and testing materials to ensure it continues meeting the needs of the healthcare system and workers. Additionally, the state will continue to monitor available beds and ventilators, and make purchases as necessary, to ensure capacity to treat COVID-19 patients; 3) Increase testing and tracing: The state currently has a robust testing approach but will continue to work to make testing more widely available and strengthen the epidemiology and contact tracing rapid response teams; 4) Work Smarter & Work Safer: ACCD's RestartVT Team will work with the Health Department and the SEOC to help businesses develop "COVID-19 Operations Plans," which will include sector strategies for phased opening, including worker and customer protections, and training and monitoring procedures; and, 5) Play Smarter, Play Safer: The RestartVT Team will also evaluate how to reopen outdoor recreation, retail, restaurants and bars, travel and other activities, focusing on the conditions needed to prevent COVID-19 outbreaks. Virginia	Executive Action	Executive Press Release	On April 24, 2020 Governor Ralph Northam (D) presented the "Forward Virginia" blueprint for reopening the state economy. The blueprint will follow three priorities: testing and tracing, which aims to test at least 10,000 people per day; personal protective equipment, which requires that all health facilities have ample supply to provide elective and medically necessary care; and sufficient hospital capacity and staff. Phase one of easing restrictions will begin after a 14-day downward trend in confirmed COVID-19 cases and hospitalization. Phase one will continue social distancing, teleworking, and limits on travel and public gatherings, but will allow certain businesses to reopen within safety restrictions. Virginia	Executive Action	Executive Press Release	Governor Ralph Northam (D) announced he will extend key provisions of Executive Order 53, which places restrictions on businesses and gatherings of more than 10 people, at least until May 15. He outlined a three-phase plan to ease restrictions on businesses and gatherings, when health data supports doing so. Phase I of easing restrictions would continue social distancing, teleworking, recommendations that people wear face coverings in public, and the ban on social gatherings of more than 10 people. It would ease some limits on business and faith communities, and would transition the stay at home directive to a "safer at home" guideline, especially for those in vulnerable populations. It is expected that Phase I would last two to four weeks, as would the two subsequent phases, depending on health metrics.	N/A	Click Here	Governor's Presentation

Washington	Executive Action	Executive Press Release	Governor Jay Inslee (D) said it is unlikely many restrictions under the "Stay Home, Stay Healthy" order will be modified before May 4. Depending on health projections for the spread of the virus, some distancing restrictions may be in place for weeks or months to come. "In the coming days, we will receive additional health modeling projecting the course of this virus," Inslee said. "We hope it will give us cause to begin lifting certain restrictions." The return to public life will occur in measured steps. It will be guided by science and informed by our public health needs, our ability to mitigate impacts, and the response of Washington communities. According to the plan, the state will facilitate a safe start and transition to economic recovery. Businesses should prepare for interventions to be rolled back slowly and to implement requirements for reopening. No order has been rescinded at this time. This plan is not reopening any sector - it is vision for the eventual safe return to public life amid the COVID-19 outbreak.	N/A	Click Here	Plan: Click Here
Washington	Executive Action	Executive Press Release	Governor Jay Inslee (D) in consultation with the state's construction industry, announced a plan April 24 to allow current construction projects to be completed. The requirements developed by the work group are as follows: 1) Restart existing construction projects with COVID-19 safety plans that allow work which only can be performed while meeting social distancing requirements; 2) Prior to recommencing work, all contractors are required to develop and post at each job site a comprehensive COVID-19 exposure control, mitigation and recovery plan; 3) All contractors are required to post at each job site a written notice to employees, subcontractors and government officials the work that will be performed at that job site and a signed commitment to adhere to the requirements; and 4) All contractors have a general obligation to keep a safe and healthy job site in accordance with state and federal law. The governor has signed an addendum to EO 20-25 that serves as the criteria for a limited Phase 1 Construction Restart. Refer to link for full detail. Must be in compliance by May 1. The Governor has updated this guidance to clarify that "authorized construction" includes (a) construction previously authorized under Proclamation 20-25 and Gov. Inslee's March 25, 2020, memo on construction and (b) construction not so authorized, but that was in existence on March 23, 2020 that is needed to fulfill an obligation under a contract or authorized by a government-issued permit obtained prior to March 23, 2020. Washington	Executive Action	Press Release	Governor Jay Inslee (D) issued guidance on May 11 for partially resuming the dine-in restaurant and tavern industry for counties granted variance under the Safe Start Phase 2 recovery plan. Through the Washington "Safe Start" plan, more businesses and activities will re-open in subsequent phases with adequate safety and health standards in place. Each phase will be at least three weeks — metrics and data will guide when the state can move from one phase to another. Through the Safe Start approach, counties with a population of less than 75,000 that have not had a new case of COVID-19 in the past three weeks can apply for a variance to move to Phase 2 of “Safe Start” before other parts of the state. County variance applications will be approved or denied by the secretary of the Department of Health. Eight counties have received the variance. For counties granted variance to move to Phase 2, restaurant operations may resume with limitations after meeting specific criteria, effective May 11. Washington	Executive Action	Executive Proclamation 20-25.4 and 20-25.5 and 20-25.6	Governor Jay Inslee (D) issued his Safe Start proclamation to outline the beginning of the Phased Reopening Plan that begins on June 8. Beginning on June 1, 2020, the Safe Start Washington Phased Reopening Plan will be applied on a county-by-county basis, and will allow any county that has been in Phase 1 or 2 for three weeks to apply to the Secretary of Health to move in whole or in part to the next phase; and further, the application process will include target metrics. Individuals must continue to wear face coverings until there is an effective vaccine, treatment, or herd immunity. This Proclamation (20-25.5) extends all of the provisions of previous versions, provides minor clarifications, and adds the following requirements for employers: cooperate with public health authorities in the investigation of COVID-19 cases and outbreaks; cooperate with the implementation of infection control measures; comply with all public health authority orders and directives; and comply with all Department of Labor & Industries interpretive guidance, regulations and rules. This extension is effective until 11:59PM July 9. Executive Proclamation 20-26.5 again extends the Safe Start proclamation until August 6. This extension order also clarifies the interaction between Safe Start and Department of Health Secretary John Wiesman's facial coverings order. It includes: 1) The Yakima County business prohibition is extended statewide: No business may operate, allow a customer to enter a business, or conduct in-person business with a customer in any public setting unless the customer is wearing a face covering (as required, and with the exceptions outlined, in Order of the Secretary of Health 20-03; 2) Individuals are prohibited from entering a place of business without wearing a face covering (again, per Order of the Secretary of Health 20-03); and 3) Employers must notify the employer's local health jurisdiction within 24 hours if the employer suspects COVID-19 is spreading in the employer's workplace, or if the employer is aware of 2 or more employees who develop confirmed or suspected COVID-19 within a 14-day period.
