

Jared is working to spread knowledge about dyslexia and the global impact it has on all of us. He continues to encourage students to find their passions and excel.