

RecycleSmart

Light Bulb Disposal Information

|  | BULB TYPE   | PROPER DISPOSAL   |
|--|---|---|
|  | Compact Fluorescent Lights (CFL)   | CFLs contain mercury and should be disposed/recycled properly. Recycling Options: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Take to Ace Hardware, Batteries Plus Bulbs, Home Depot or Lowes.</li><li>• Bring to a RecycleSmart Household Hazardous Waste event.</li></ul> Recycling allows the reuse of the glass, metals and other materials that make up fluorescent lights. Virtually all components of a fluorescent bulb can be recycled.                         |
|  | Fluorescent Tubes  | Fluorescent tubes contain mercury and should be disposed/recycled properly. Recycling Options: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Accepted for a fee at Ace Hardware stores.</li><li>• Bring to a RecycleSmart Household Hazardous Waste event.</li></ul> Recycling CFLs and other fluorescent bulbs allows the reuse of the glass, metals and other materials that make up fluorescent lights. Virtually all components of a fluorescent bulb can be recycled. |
|  | Halogen  | Halogen bulbs can be disposed with regular household trash. A halogen light bulb uses a tungsten filament just like an incandescent light bulb but also contains halogen gas which an incandescent bulb does not.  |
|  | High Intensity Discharge (HID)Mercury Vapor, Metal Halide, High Pressure Sodium | High Intensity Discharge bulbs contain mercury and should be disposed/recycled properly. Recycling Options: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Take to Batteries Plus Bulbs.</li><li>• Bring to a RecycleSmart Household Hazardous Waste event.</li></ul>   |
|  | Incandescent   | Can be disposed with regular household garbage.  |
|  | LED  | Can be disposed with regular household garbage. LEDs DO NOT contain dangerous chemicals.   |

Search the Take It Back Directory to learn where and how to reuse, recycle, compost or properly dispose of just about anything. Visit www.recyclesmart.info