IHS Infection Control & Outbreak Management Expertise

IHS has an established Infection Control Procedure and actively promotes our infection preventative techniques throughout our employee base. If any areas within our portfolio of Hotels are reported as having a suspected or actual infectious outbreak then IHS will conduct our formalised infection control services (including Bio-misting) and adopt any additional recommendations from the Australian Government Department of Health.

All IHS Managers have successfully completed the nationally accredited HLTINFCOV001 - Infection Prevention & Control Procedures course - in addition to the Australian Government COVID-19 online training.

Upon the outbreak of infection the Manager of the Hotel must immediately notify their IHS Executive Housekeeping or Supervisor in charge of the occurrence so they can implement the correct procedures. All IHS Supervisors and Cleaning Staff will adhere to the Infection Control Safe Work Method Statements (SWMS) and relevant guidelines within our QHES Management System.

With our large pool of existing cleaners and labour suppliers in place, IHS will be able to scale up or down seamlessly. Our on-board training programs, scheduling of services, management processes and real time auditing systems ensure a smooth delivery of services.

IHS is one of the key suppliers to the NSW Health Department in providing these services to their Covid19 quarantine centres (known as Special Health Accommodation) as well as the Bayton Group (Parent Company) Commercial and Aged Care clients.
