NorthlandConnection.com, the regional economic development portal for the seven Arrowhead counties of northeast Minnesota and Douglas County, Wisconsin, is well-known for its database of available properties across the region, plus some background on the region's leading industries. But information available on the website goes far beyond these well-used features, and offers a complete suite of resources to regional businesses and economic development professionals.

Find Development Resources

Don't know where to look for the resources you need to grow your business, or need to refer a company to a database that includes a full range of information that can guide them through their next phase of expansion or transition? From business plans to talent attraction, from accountants to environmental services, Northland Connection's Business Resource Center is the searchable database you're looking for.

Want to know how many graduates come out of each local college in degree programs relevant to a business? Northland Connection has that.

Curious what's happening in cities, counties, or across the broader region in terms of unemployment, or see a table of the Northland's leading employers? Northland Connection has that, too.

Looking to lure in an employer who needs to be convinced that the workforce infrastructure, local schools, or healthcare systems are up to scratch? Northland Connection has data that can help bolster the story you're trying to tell.

NorthlandConnection.com provides a wealth of information on the region, and even if something isn't on the website, there's a good chance that our staff will know how to find it. Northland Connection is your source for all data and information on local economic development. Contact our staff if you need assistance locating any of these resources.
