

GRILL PHIL

Phil, where do you use Strate sewage sets?

You can use Strate sewage anywhere you would place a traditional wet well or dry sump sewage system.

In addition, Strate units can be placed in situations where a traditional system would not be suitable. For example, we look after systems that are placed next to food courts and staff crew rooms.

These units can be placed on a solid floor, even where that floor is several stories above ground level. There is no need to dig a sump (although you can place them in a sump) or worry about odours as they are sealed from the immediate area.

If you would like to know any more please ask me.
