Why should I get tested for allergies?

1 in 5 people suffer from allergies. Immunotherapy offers a convenient method of decreasing or even eliminating allergy symptoms, from the comfort of your own home.

How is allergy testing performed?

58 different antigens, at a very low dosage, are applied to the patient's skin. Results of the test are evident within 15-20 minutes. Patients can see the results on the spot and know what they are allergic to.

What happens after my allergies have been identified?

First Care will bill your insurance for your allergy supplies, serums will be created & the patient will receive allergy treatment. Most insurance plans cover allergy testing & eligibility is checked prior to serums being created. You will receive education, guidance & support to treat your allergies at home.
