CHRIST CONGREGATIONAL UCC IN MIAMI

Organized Prayer Vigil and More
In Response to Alligator Alcatraz

As part of a larger interfaith effort in Southeast FL, in response to Everglades Detention Center at Alligator Alcatraz, Christ Congregational UCC in Miami and its interfaith partners hope to build a rhythm of prayer and solidarity that can be sustained by diverse faith communities, in their own spaces, rooted in the call to honor the dignity of immigrants and those currently detained.

The congregation is also involved in planning larger, on-site vigils at the detention center itself, where clergy and people of faith will rotate regionally to maintain a regular spiritual and moral presence. These coordinated efforts are being organized in support of Florida Immigrant Coalition's ongoing advocacy, and in collaboration with a broad interfaith coalition across Florida.

This past week a small group traveled to the detention center to walk the space, hold a brief prayer vigil, and begin preparing for the ongoing weekly presence. Teams from across the state will rotate to "lead" these weekly vigils, helping build a sustained and visible moral witness.
