GHRA is an equal opportunity provider and employer. Complaints of discrimination should be sent to: USDA, Director, Office of Civil Rights, Washington, D.C. 20250-9410, or call (202) 720-5964 (Voice and TDD).

GHRA's training and certification courses are aimed to provide individuals with the skills needed to increase performance, improve service standards and provide job-specific skills for new and existing hospitality and service sector industry employees.

COURSE OVERVIEW:
In an effort to promote safe and healthy environments for employees, guests and customers, GHRA will provide essential training courses that will educate employers and employees of healthy working practices, reduce workplace hazards and incidents, limit exposure, improve health and safety outcomes, introduce organizational development, and promote accident prevention, response and containment. The courses were selected based on the TOP OSHA CITATIONS in the general industry. These courses will help improve quality and promote a higher standard of occupational safety and health in the workplace.

IMMEDIATE BENEFITS:
Throughout the pandemic, it has become all too important for businesses to continue updating and reinforcing their safety plans, work process and work conditions for the safety of employees, guests and the environment. Employees will need to understand the impact they have to the processes and help manage the administrative and engineering controls that affect the workplace and people who are exposed to any potential hazard. With the QCCC Grant Program – Series 3, GHRA can further educate and train employees of the industry on the health and safety protocols as well as programs mandated through local and federal regulations regarding Hazard Communication, Toxic and Hazardous Substances, Fall Protection, Ladders, Personal Protective Equipment, Respiratory Protection, Machinery and Machine Guarding, and Control of Hazardous Energy (Lockout/Tagout). GHRA is also offering free mentoring programs to update a company's pandemic and crisis communications plans to ensure employers and employees understand the policies and procedures with operating during a pandemic or post-pandemic situation.

Deadline to register is 12 noon every Thursday prior to the class, which takes place every Monday from August 8, 2022 through September 19, 2022. Please return this registration form to GHRA via e-mail at info@ghra.org, register at ghra.org or fax to 671-649-8565.
