John Knox Presbytery Report

On Saturday, February 18, the John Knox Presbytery met via Zoom with a number of representatives from Covenant Church in attendance: Pastor Charlie, Doug Rohn, Jennifer Morgan, Doug Poland, Jim Spilburg and Carol Phillips.

A major highlight of the meeting was the installation of Pastor Charlie Berthoud as Vice-Moderator of the John Knox Presbytery! Other items on the agenda were updates from a very busy Committee on Ministry and an interesting report from a group of small churches in Montana (of varied Protestant denominations) who had each been struggling to find ministers. They pulled resources together and have a plan in place that allows for shared mission and worship, while still maintaining their identity. This is of special interest, as our Presbytery is in the process of "revisioning", finding a way to balance traditions, congregations and culture in today's world.

These meetings are a great opportunity to see the inner workings of the Presbyterian Church, and witness all the amazing people who serve and live out the mission of this body of Christ.
