

COVID-19 Vaccination Management and Employment Liability - Northeast Territory

TUESDAY, MARCH 2, 2021, 11:00 A.M. - 12:00 P.M. EST

Philadelphia Insurance Companies (PHLY) is proud to partner with Wilson Elser for a one hour informational webinar discussing employment practices liability issues surrounding the COVID-19 vaccine.

Wilson, Elser, Moskowitz, Edelman & Dicker LLP is a nationally-recognized law firm, with a strong focus on insurance coverage and defense, including employment practices liability. Recognized in the top 54 of the National Law Review Journal 500, Wilson Elser has long partnered with PHLY through the Risk Management Hotline.

The COVID-19 vaccine is here, but what does that mean for organizations and their employees? This webinar will present information about the vaccine, the liability and exposures employers may face regarding vaccine management, and address some of your questions.

Topics will include:

- Brief description of the vaccines available
- A regional focus that will address some unique circumstances in certain states
- Can employers require employees to be vaccinated?
- Are there accommodations employers need to give for employees who do not want to be vaccinated?
- Could an employer be held liable if an employee who is not vaccinated works with another employee who then tests positive?

A PHLY policy number (for insureds) or a PHLY agency number (for agents) is required to register. This webinar is provided for policyholders that have employment practices liability insurance through PHLY and for their agents. Due to attendee limitations, registrations are limited to two per organization.

If you have any questions, please contact phlyrms@phly.com at 800.873.4552x4.
