

Change is in the Air -ACHE Leads the Way-

Certification Workshop Information

Date: October 24 – 26, 2022

Location: New Orleans, LA

Today's evolving university landscape is more challenging and demanding of talent and leadership than ever. Elevated expectations and sweeping changes within organizational structures are a new norm.

ACHE is responding to our new world by offering two timely and inventive certification workshops on site at the ACHE Conference. Incorporated into the conference scheduling, these sessions allow certificate participants the opportunity to both attend the conference and gain certification status in one of the two following tracks:

The Value of Differences: From Transactional to Transformational Leadership

The impact of leadership is measured by its resilience and positive outcomes. This workshop focuses on transformational strategy. Specific examinations of the root causes of resistance will lend insight into the reshaping of healthy and proactive work culture practices. To become an inclusive leader is to become an informed and insightful problem-solver. The content of this workshop asks the participant to assess personal leadership traits as transformative and committed visionary. Analytical and creative skill sets will be challenged in the intersection of needed organizational "remodeling."

Inclusive Leadership: The Competitive Edge in Diversity, Inclusion & Belongingness

Recognizing that diversity and inclusion are the driving forces in today's university's success, this workshop considers all levels of employee interaction with holistic approaches to language and communication, perceptions in interactive change and the complexities of multilevel inclusivity.

This workshop series targets both emerging new leaders and those seeking a recharged and contemporary understanding of needed transformation.
