

"THE FINE PRINT" (MORE DETAILS):

Ohio Invention League provides training for all new judges (or those who wish to get a "refresher") prior to the start of judging. Training is a one-hour online event that can be joined via Zoom so you can ask questions, or watch the recording at your convenience.

Volunteer judges can choose how many pitches you would like to view and score virtually from the comfort of your own home. Links of the YouTube video submissions are uploaded into the zFairs judging platform; judges log into zFairs and pick projects to score. The pool of volunteers enables projects to be judged a minimum of 4 times; all scores are then combined to get a final score for the prototype and pitch.

OIL uses a platform called "zFairs". We request a personal email address to prevent business servers from blocking our judging announcements. OIL will send a reminder email to let you know when the judging period begins and ends.

For those willing to judge for more than one competition, you will need to register for each competition. You can also contact Amy@InventionLeague.org, and she will be happy to get you registered for any or all events you are able to judge.
