Each year, Sherwin-Williams releases a color forecast with the latest color trends and palettes their design experts predict will be dominant in the industry. This year's mix contains 40 trend colors, presented in four palettes, from rich earth tones and organic neutrals to powdery pastels and bold jewel tones, as well as sunbaked desert hues and energizing brights.

"It's that reflective time of year again when looking back uncovers the path forward for so many things, but especially for revisiting how we connect to our surrounding environments, our stories, our relationships, and our simple daily joys. Terra, our Colormix 2023 Forecast®, is here and the collection embraces this renewed sense of growth and connection in our lives."

AR Homes® Punta Gorda (SandStar Homes, LLC)

The coastal contemporary design of the Regatta enhances the picturesque Florida lifestyle. A soaring vaulted ceiling creates dramatic interest in the great room/casual dining/kitchen area, while 10-foot-tall sliding doors open to an equally impressive outdoor space comprising a covered lanai and cabana. Highlighting the chef's kitchen are a large island, wine room and walk-in pantry hidden behind custom cabinet door panels.

7 Trends for Countertops and Other Surfaces in 2023

As we settle into a new year and new possibilities, let's take a look at the top trends emerging in countertops and other surfaces according to Houzz, an inspiration hub for interior designers, remodelers, contractors, dealers, and homeowners.

"Engineered surfaces have risen in popularity in recent years due to their durability and ability to take on the look of real stone and other materials. Meanwhile, natural stone remains popular, delivering authentic style with a little more upkeep than synthetic materials. New looks and innovations for both products were on display recently at the 2023 Kitchen and Bath Industry Show (KBIS) in Las Vegas."
