ASHLEY DAWN - BRANSON FAMOUS BALDKNOBBERS

Ashley Dawn Originally from Buffalo, MO, she grew up singing in church where her dad was the pastor and her mama was the piano player. Singing was always a family affair. She sang in a Southern Gospel trio, "The Prater's", with her brother and sister in her teen years. They traveled all over the country, performing about 200 concerts per year.

The 135th Army Band discovered her talent and she was contracted to be the lead singer in their traveling band, "Aftershock" for a couple of years.

2019, The Branson Famous Baldknobbers offered her a singing job which she proudly accepted. You can see her performing nightly with the show that started it all in Branson.

The community recognized her amazing talent and awarded her "Female Vocalist of the Year" for Branson in 2022!

Ashley's true passion is singing. She loves what she's doing and is looking forward to where her music takes her next!
