

The College and University Recycling Coalition (CURC) is recruiting individuals with a professional interest to advance collegiate recycling and sustainable materials management to its board of directors.

Are you:

- Passionate about campus recycling, waste prevention or composting?
- Interested in leadership opportunities?
- Looking to contribute your skills and time to advance a professional network of campus recycling practitioners?

If so, consider joining the CURC Board of Directors.

CURC is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization governed by an all-volunteer 12-member Board. Members serve 3-year terms, with seats currently open for both full 3-year and partial terms. Board Members:

- Set strategic direction for the organization
- Manage the organization's business affairs
- Contribute professional expertise to program development
- Act as organizational ambassadors at conferences and other professional gatherings

Board Members are expected to:

- Contribute to the planning and implementation of CURC programs and activities
- Participate in a monthly Board conference call
- Serve on at least one of the following governance and program committees:
 - Board Development Committee
 - Finance and Sponsorship Committee
 - Marketing and Programs Committee
 - Ad Hoc Committees developed as needed
- Attend an annual strategic planning retreat (if possible)

CURC is looking to recruit individuals who will provide the board with a diverse range of professional experience and knowledge with recycling and sustainability specific to colleges and universities. CURC seeks to include representation from different types and sizes of higher ed institutions across the U.S. and Canada. Enthusiasm to advance recycling and sustainable materials management at higher education institutions is required. Experience with non-profit board governance is a plus.

New members will be selected by the existing Board. To be considered for the Board, please complete an online nomination form.

Thanks for your interest! For questions about CURC and leadership expectations, please contact Margaret Bounds, Board Development Chair, at mbounds@conncoll.edu.
