

Dual signatures may seem an antiquated business practice. We know banks and insurance companies are no longer looking for dual signatures at certain thresholds. Most organizations are not volunteer associations with ever-changing board members and entrusted by members due to our reputation as child advocates. Dual signatures on checks is an internal control that Florida PTA will continue to require as a best practice and to protect your unit against fraud. Every dollar and cent is entrusted to our boards to advance the PTA mission – to make every child’s potential a reality by engaging and empowering families and communities to advocate for all children. Continuing to require the dual signatures can provide assurance to your members that your board takes every dollar and cent to heart and is protecting it as best we can.
