Identity Management in the Remote World: AKA the COVID-19 Response

COVID-19 has spurred digital identity forward at a rapid pace, whether we were prepared for it or not. Join us for this engaging opening session, where we will discuss the current federal reality and focuses moving forward, how fraud prevention is altered in a digital realm, and what healthcare is doing to respond to remote needs and ensure security of information. From collaboration, interoperability, and the role of physical documents, this session will provide key insights to help you think critically and strategically moving forward.

Moderator: Shawna Webster, NAPHSIS

Speakers: JP Pollak, The Commons Project
Lonnie Whitehead, Department of State

Biometrics & Advanced Technologies

In this session you will hear from industry leaders discussing the rise of contactless biometrics in the service industry and the role it can play in healthcare moving forward. We will also discuss how digital identity and a data exchange platform can benefit all corners of society, like healthcare, education, and taxes. We will also look at Estonia, one of the world's most advanced digital societies, as an example.

Moderator: Jeff Duncan, Michigan

Speakers: Teresa Wu, Idemia
Max van de Poll, Cybernetica

3:30 – 4:30pm ET

Breakout 1: Voluntary Data Submission

We often think of data submission at the state and federal level - but what can be done with voluntary data submission on an individual level or through a private entity? In this session you will learn from use cases how voluntary data submission can help improve lives, and how the data is safely used.

Moderator: Melissa Bird, Iowa

Speakers: Cathy Ball, Ancestry

Breakout 2: Newborn Screening + Vital Records: Interoperability

Interoperability continues to be a focus on both the local and national level, from processes to systems and more. In this session, you will learn about an existing interoperability with Newborn Screening, including how it works, and what the possibilities are for interoperability with vital records and other departments.

Moderator: Mariah Pokorny, South Dakota

Speakers: Eddie Gonzalez, Ruvos
Careema Yusuf, Association of Public Health
Laboratories

Tuesday, December 1

2:15 – 3:15pm ET

Breakout 1: Equity & Identity

We live in a time of change – and this change includes making our processes more equitable. With a focus on the challenges COVID-19 has exposed, this session will share real examples of how states and international entities have taken different approaches to equity and identity and what we can all learn from it.

Moderator: Molly Crawford, Minnesota

Speakers: Guy Beaudoin, Wyoming

Chris Bursnall, Missouri

Niall McCann, United Nations Development Program

Breakout 2: Identity Attributes: Gender's Role

In this session, we will discuss the role gender plays in our identity, and if the current role is the right one. We will specifically be exploring thoughts around alternative identification indicators to gender, such as biometrics and chromosomes.

Moderator: Krystal Colburn, Arizona

Speakers: Brian Broderick, U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services

Trish LaMagna, AZ Attorney General's Office

3:15 – 3:45pm ET

Breakout 1: Contact Tracing – Data Ownership

While contact tracing is not a new phenomenon, the COVID-19 pandemic is seeing it utilized, digitalized and revolutionized on a global scale. With such a massive surge of data, questions around privacy and access have arisen. In this session, you will hear from a company who developed a contact tracing app, as well as from speakers from New Zealand on the success they found in their contact tracing efforts and how they have been able to contain the novel virus.

Moderator: Kay Chopard Cohen, Women in Identity

Speakers: Eddie Gonzalez, Ruvos

Tamara Al-Salim, New Zealand Defence Force

Andrew Weaver, Digital Identity NZ

Breakout 2: Digital Driver's License & Real ID Updates

This year we will be providing updates on Digital Driver's Licenses and Real ID. In this breakout session, you will receive key updates and lessons learned from jurisdictions and industry with the implementation of these new identity documents and how they will change the identity landscape.

Moderator: Alex Quintana, Colorado

Speakers:

Michael McCaskill, Florida Highway Patrol
