The Power of Community: Strengthening Stepping On with Peer Facilitators

Many Stepping On graduates leave the program feeling empowered—and eager to give back. Becoming a peer facilitator is a powerful way to share that enthusiasm and help others stay confident, active, and independent. In this webinar, you'll hear from program providers who have worked with peer facilitators to expand and strengthen their Stepping On program. Discover how to manage peer facilitators to enhance engagement, build trust, and help your program reach even more older adults in your community.
