

August Environmental Committee Update

The Environmental Committee continues to add flowers and tend to the butterfly garden.

A new flyer showcasing the butterfly garden was posted on each town information board.

After the substantial dune vegetation trimming last winter, the dune sea grapes and coin vines are growing back.

We have held a few beach work parties to clear out trash, remove old limb debris, and pull out weedy non-native vines. The successful cleanup efforts generated 12 large piles that the Department of Public Works will dispose of.

Similar to how the invasive pythons are not good for the Everglades, invasive plant species disrupt a balanced dune system. At least 7 invasive plant species have been identified in our beach dune. The EC will work together with the town to promote a resilient beach dune.
