

The situation at the border continues to develop. Followers of Jesus and others are finding ways to respond with compassion and pursue justice.

Some groups to follow for information:

- Sanctuary Caravan – individuals from the presbytery have gone to the border with this program of the New Sanctuary Coalition
- Sanctuary at the Border #PresbyterianWallopofWelcome – resources compiled by the Presbyterian Peace Fellowship
- Office of Immigration Issues, Office of the General Assembly
- Presbyterians for Just Immigration
- Mission Presbytery Refugee Family Response
- Love Knows No Borders – American Friends Service Committee
- At least 30 faith leaders arrested in border protest – Presbyterian Outlook

Additional ideas for action from staff of the Presbyterian Mission Agency and the Office of the General Assembly:

- Support groups already involved in the effort, such as the Interfaith Welcome Coalition in San Antonio, which needs volunteers at the bus station and airport and financial donations for the program that distributes backpacks to families as they begin their journey across the US to loved ones. Others on the front lines of response with which Presbyterians are involved include Matthew 25 of Southern California, working in the San Diego-Tijuana area; the New Sanctuary Coalition of NYC; and Annunciation House in El Paso and the Humanitarian Respite Center in McAllen.
- Find other ideas from Presbyterian Disaster Assistance.
- Get involved in advocacy on immigration policy, both nationally and on the local level. The Office of Public Witness provides information and action opportunities on the national level; the New Sanctuary Coalition provides the same on the local level.
- Build relationships with immigrant communities in the presbytery and in your neighborhood.
- Write letters of support immigrants being held in detention centers. Learn more about letter-writing programs.
