"With so many fires burning on so many local, state, and federal issues, it seems overwhelming to figure out where to begin. But we know one thing for sure: legal services for the vulnerable are more important now than ever. So many around us lack the ability to stay clothed and housed, much less the means to protect themselves from unfair practices or to vindicate their basic rights in court. Equal Access to Justice provides one of the most basic essentials, dignity. Thank you for your generosity toward those who are most in need." - Bruce Thompson

"As New Mexico's former chief public defender, I have seen the drastic real-life consequences many New Mexicans face when they cannot afford basic legal services. Thankfully, legal aid was there to help. The tremendous value and need for civil legal services remain today. Ensuring legal services for the most vulnerable in our community is more important than ever. To help keep civil legal aid's doors open for New Mexicans in need, I am providing a matching challenge for Equal Access to Justice. Please join me in giving generously today. Together we can make a powerful impact in our community." - John Bigelow
