"When I think of 'Becoming Me,' I think of legacy. I was honored and excited to participate in the development of this curriculum but had no way of knowing that this project would become so dear to my heart. This intervention curriculum for CSEC gradually began to feel like a carefully crafted love letter full of wisdom and hope for girls and young women I may never meet. Those who have contributed to 'Becoming Me' have shared their years of experience in serving vulnerable youth and I have added my expertise as someone with lived experience and clinical insight. I believe that 'Becoming Me' is a powerful gift to offer the youth who will greatly benefit from it along with having one more practical tool to help them mitigate and conquer the residual effects of their traumas."
