

Arinze N. Onugha serves as special counsel at Fried Frank, resident in its New York office. As a member of Fried Frank's Corporate Department, Arinze's practice focuses on asset management, assisting sponsors in the structure and formation of private equity funds and other alternative investment vehicles. His experience also includes representing regulated fund-of-funds, family offices and other institutional investors in connection with their primary and secondary investments in domestic and offshore buyout, real estate, venture capital, structured equity and other private investment funds.

Arinze has been recognized by the Jackie Robinson Foundation as one of its "42 under 40" Distinguished Jackie Robinson Scholar Alumni and was selected by the National Bar Association's "Top 40 under 40 – Nation's Best Advocates" (2021-2022 class). Through charitable organizations, Arinze assists students from underrepresented communities in learning business law concepts. He earned a Bachelor of Science degree with a concentration in entrepreneurial management from the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Business, followed by a Juris Doctor degree from New York University School of Law.
