

Amy Kennedy is a partner in Akin Gump's Finance team. She structures leveraged financing arrangements for complex leveraged buyouts and other private equity transactions. She has worked on a range of international and cross-border banking and restructuring transactions, with a particular focus on investment grade and corporate lending, and distressed and restructuring transactions. Amy's clients include prominent private equity sponsors, banks and other financial institutions. She has experience with sustainability-linked and green financings, and is a regular contributor in respect of ESG-related issues within the European debt markets.