

Michael D. Robson | Shareholder
Greenberg Traurig LLP

Michael D. Robson is a shareholder in the Corporate and Securities department of Greenberg Traurig in Chicago. Michael focuses his practice on corporate, project, and structured finance transactions (both domestic and cross-border), including public-private partnerships, credit tenant loan real estate transactions and lease finance transactions. Michael's representation of insurance companies, finance companies, and institutional investors focuses on private placements of debt, both secured and unsecured; complex project and facility financings; real estate transactions (including CTLs); and equipment financings. A considerable amount of his practice involves energy and infrastructure financings and includes advising, structuring, and documenting debt offerings and financing arrangements; negotiating lenders' interests in leases, project-related agreements and construction contracts; and structuring transactions to attain requisite credit ratings on debt securities from the rating agencies. Michael is a member of the American College of Investment Counsel and serves on its Communications Committee. Michael received both his J.D. and B.B.A. from the University of Notre Dame and is admitted to practice in Illinois.
