Voices of Old Conejo

Presented by the Conejo Valley Historical Society

It's the fall of 1876 on "El Rancho Conejo" (now the Conejo Valley), and the Grand Union Hotel (later the Stagecoach Inn) is open for business. It is the year of Custer's Last Stand, the election of President Rutherford B. Hayes, and the nation's Centennial Celebration.

Come to the Stagecoach Inn Museum for an Old West theater experience. Watch historical vignettes throughout the museum grounds, with two routes for different walking abilities.

Join the theater after party in Anderson Hall!
