

A Note Regarding Changes in the Promotion of Events

We are making some changes in the way that we promote events. We realize that many parishes have events that need to be promoted, especially around the holidays. We are glad to help promote these events, but we've learned that including them all in News & Notes each week is nearly impossible.

For this reason, we will no longer be including parish events in News & Notes. (With the exception of major events.) Instead, they will be placed on our "Community Events" page on our website. This page has recently been revamped and it mimics the look of a community bulletin board. Additionally, in each week's News & Notes, we will include a graphic that directs people to the Community Events page.

We understand that the task of promoting an event can be quite daunting. If you're interested in learning more about how to use digital media to promote your event, reach out to our Communications Coordinator, Lindsey Harts. She would be glad help provide some basic training for those who are interested.
