Best Advice for Leaders

- Don't go it alone. Engage your community, as it takes a village (Langemo).
- The Canvas provides community college champions with a scientific method for program development (Gold & Kerly).

More good advice...

- Leverage your institution's reputation to develop partnerships in new ways (Giovannini).
- Community Colleges have the opportunity to take the lead with ESHIP training in workforce development (Mullin & Winkel).

More good advice...

- Early collisions offer long-term benefits ... and, raise your hand to volunteer (Tello).
- Celebration of successes builds awareness and encourages others to be entrepreneurial (Hoover).

More good advice ...

- Embed principles of entrepreneurship across curriculum and disciplines (Pumariega & Henderson).
- Protect those willing to change (Ton Quinlivan).

The Art of ESHIP is in the Doing

“You see things; you say ‘Why.’ But I dream of things that never were; and I say ‘Why not?’ – George Bernard Shaw

“Now is the time for doing. It is time to become habitual entrepreneurial community college leaders (J. Noah Brown).
